SIMnet® Insider Monthly Newsletter

November 2026

SIMple Strategies for Smarter Teaching

Flexible Learning, Career-Ready Skills

Whether SIMnet is at the center of your CIT course or used to build Microsoft 365 skills into another course, its flexible, hands-on learning complements platforms like McGraw Hill Connect® to extend essential technology skills into courses across the curriculum.

Click here to learn more.

SIMnet Digital Showcase

Put Your SIMnet Credentials to Work

As the semester starts to wind down, encourage your students to promote their SIMnet credentials which showcase their skills, adds value to your course, and sets them apart in the field. Share this short video to show them how!

Click here to learn more.

Real Courses. Real Results.

From Practice to Confidence with SIMnet

SIMnet helps students with varying levels of experience learn by doing, build confidence, and develop practical skills they can take beyond the classroom. Learn more through one student's experience with SIMnet.

Click here to learn more.

SIMnet Power Plays

The Right Skills at the Right Time with Custom SIMnet Lessons

Hear from Erin Swartz, SIMnet Specialist at McGraw Hill, as she demonstrates how to create custom SIMnet lessons that give students targeted practice and refreshers before assignments, projects, or more advanced course content.

Click here to learn more.

Webinars

SIMnet Fall Webinar Series

October 7 | AI in the Computer Applications Course: Where to Start and What Works

October 9 | Agentic AI: What's Next for Technology Education?

October 15 | Turning Data into Decisions: Applied Data Analytics Using Microsoft Power Tools

October 21 | Beyond Application Skills: Preparing Students for an AI-Powered Workplace

Register for Upcoming Webinars

Check Out On-Demand Webinars

New & Noteworthy

Classic SIMnet Instructor Experience Extended to June 2027

Great news for your 2027 planning! SIMnet's Classic Instructor Experience will now stay available through June 2027, instead of retiring in December 2026. That gives you extra time to explore the new experience and make the switch when it works best for you. Explore our on-demand training series for a deeper dive into the new experience.

Bob Nisbet
Senior Marketing Manager, SIMnet & MIS
Bob.Nisbet@mheducation.com

Kristen Salinas-Thompson
Senior Marketing Manager, SIMnet
Kristen.Salinas@mheducation.com