

Marketing Application-Based Activities

Included in McGraw Hill Connect

The Connect Application-Based Activities (ABAs) are highly interactive activities that immerse students in real-world business environments. Placed in the role of a marketing manager or business professional, students are challenged to apply multiple concepts and make data-informed decisions. Review the definitions below to determine which type is the best fit for your course!

Role-Playing Application-Based Activities^{}

The Marketing Role-Playing ABAs provide students valuable practice using problem solving skills to apply their knowledge to realistic business scenarios. ABAs often involve multiple decision-making paths and allow students to see the impact of their decisions immediately.

Each Role-Playing ABA focuses on one topic and is intended to take approximately 15-20 minutes to complete. There are objective questions with correct and incorrect answers, and there are also branching questions that allow students to select optimal, suboptimal, and incorrect responses. A student's particular path in the activity will depend on the decisions the student made on the branching questions.

Marketing Mini Sim Application-Based Activities^{}

Marketing Mini Sim ABAs put students into the role of a marketing manager for a backpack manufacturing company. Each simulation focuses on a different element of the marketing mix and forces students to make business decisions using the information provided to achieve the established mission goal.

Practice Marketing Full Simulation

This 3D marketing simulation enables students to put their marketing skills to the test in a fun and competitive environment. Within the game, students discover what it takes to be an effective marketing manager. Using strategies learned in class, students must successfully launch a new product to market. Within this simulated environment, players must analyze sales results, collect competitive information, and refine their product, price, place, and promotional strategies in order to maximize results and become a market leader.

* A product-specific, chapter correlation guide is available within Connect suggesting which Application-Based Activities to assign to supplement your course. Please consult the Connect Asset Map under Instructor Resources for additional information.
