Expanded roles and permissions in Connect

McGraw Hill Connect offers instructors expanded roles and permissions that make collaboration with colleagues easier and more seamless. Outlined below are the roles Connect supports and resources Primary Instructors can share with Secondary Instructors, Additional Instructors, and Teaching Assistants.

What roles does Connect support?

Primary Instructor
The owner/creator of the Connect section. The user is created via Internal Admin Tool (IAT) or via an LMS workflow where a password-less account is created upon pairing an LMS section with a Connect section.

Secondary Instructor
When a Primary Instructor shares a section with another instructor, that instructor becomes a Secondary Instructor in that shared section.

Additional Instructor
When the Primary Instructor adds another instructor to their section, they become an Additional Instructor in that section. The Additional Instructor can also be added via the LMS pairing workflow where the section is paired originally by the Primary Instructor, and the added instructor pairs after the initial pairing was done by the Primary Instructor.

Teaching Assistant
Primary Instructor can add a Teaching Assistant (TA) via standalone Connect or via LMS (like Additional Instructor). Note: A TA's primary role must be a Learner. This means that in order to add a TA to a class, the user must have a Learner Connect account.
