

#MHEhappiness

Jean-Luc Desalvo

San José State University

Elementary French (taught fully online)

My favorite thing about Connect is...

“The LearnSmart (LS) exercises or activities which serve both a diagnostic and formative assessment role.”

Connect helped me improve my course by...

“Making students more aware of which materials or concepts they have mastered and which they have not. Correspondingly, what they need to focus more attention on.”

My top 3 tips for using Connect:

- “Allow students to have multiple attempts to complete especially LearnSmart (LS) exercises so that it is a process that truly encourages students to learn from their mistakes.”
- “Break up the lessons following the presentation or structure of the textbook so that learning new concepts is not too overwhelming.”
- “Don't skip any exercises; take an educated guess.”

My best advice for a new user:

“Take a close look at the various question banks and select which exercises are the most useful to assign for your language program and course level and how many are needed based on the student completion time guidelines provided.”

What Connect could mean for you:

“Although not a true substitute for a classroom teacher-student interaction, it comes closest to providing a supportive online learning environment which serves to build the students' language proficiency and confidence.”