

#MHEhappiness

Sheila Levi-Aland

Valencia College

Art Appreciation, Art History

My favorite thing about Connect is...

“I love that students can interact with art and art concepts. They can play with color wheels, see how artists use tools, and then answer questions that refer to the concepts they just learned.”

Connect helped me improve my course by...

“making it really easy to start everyone on the same page with art knowledge. It also makes it so easy to track student progress and impact their learning.”

My top 3 tips for using Connect:

- “Create your quizzes/tests in Connect. Have your students use the practice quizzes to pace themselves.”
- “Use the Connect orientation as part of your orientation. It will start everyone on the right track.”
- “Play with all the tools!! It will help you tailor everything to your style of teaching and what will work best for your students.”

What Connect could mean for you:

“Connect takes your teaching to the next level. You can really focus on the concepts you want to explore with your students. Each semester, instead of reinventing the wheel, you can sync your course with a few clicks. The ease of Connect allows you to concentrate on adding new content or projects or research.

I also really like that I can track student progress and see what elements they are struggling with by looking at their SmartBook progress. It helps me tailor my lectures and work with students to help them.”

My best advice for a new user:

“Sign up for a training and play around with all the features. Do not be afraid to ask questions! McGraw Hill really wants you and your students to succeed and have a lot of ways to make the experience easier than you ever imagined. Students learn a lot from Connect.”